

Funding Information

McGill works together with funding agencies in Canada and abroad to fund graduate students. As such, we must ask which funding opportunities you're being considered for or will be applying to. The questions below are based on your citizenship and program selections. If you make a change, the funding questions will adjust accordingly.

There are no "right" answers to these funding questions, but it's a good idea to apply for all the funding sources you're eligible for. Your program coordinator can tell you about funding expectations for your program. Learn more about how graduate funding works at McGill.
